

As one of the first coaches of Albert Lea’s wrestling program, LEROY MASS established his program and set the table for coaches that followed. With his program, Mass exhibited the rare talent of finding young student athletes and turning them into competitive District, Regional and State champions. In addition to his success as a coach of ALHS students has resulted in the creation of the Leroy Maas Wrestling Scholarship. Maas is appropriately known as, “The Water that Primed the Pump of Thousands.”

Maas understands that records are set and then surpassed; however, he believes beyond the importance and value of the accomplishments of the moment. It is the life lessons learned that serve athletes over the course of their life that are the most important. To that end, he is deeply proud of the numerous accomplishments of the student athletes he enjoyed the privilege to coach.
